The 1942 Diary

Notes by B. J. DALTON.

- February 3.—School opens with a record entry of third form boys, but a depleted staff of Masters.
- February 5-10.—Barracks. A large A.T.C. flight reduces the Cadet Company numbers.
- February 21.—Slit trenches appear. Shall we ever use them?
- March 12.—Military parade in town; half-holiday very welcome.
- March 16.—Again those rosy-cheeked apples.
- March 17.—Trial evacuation. Much system.
- March 18.—Swimming Sports most successfully held with record entries.
- March 19.—Chaplain Captain N. Sansom sings splendidly to the Choir.
- April 24.—Usual Anzac Service in Hall, with Major Lloyd as the speaker.
- April 25.—Anzac Day parade. Our marching cannot be greatly praised.
- May 30.—June 3.—A financial effort with a patriotic purpose is made by the boys of the School. Result—£23, which is invested in savings certificates.
- June 12.—Talk, Pilot Officer Hull, on his flying experiences in England, Greece and Egypt. This talk is notable for the clear delivery and simple manner of the speaker and the consequent enthusiastic reception by the School.
- June 18.—Travel talk by Mr Williams.
- June 23.—1st XV goes to Dunedin. Wins, 3-0.
- June 7: 1st and 2nd VX's. to Oamaru. Two losses: 0-6; 8-11. Teams play badly.
- July 22.—King's match. Won, 10-8. (Evening) The social event of the year—the much debated Prefects' Dance. This an outstanding success financially and socially.
- August 17.—Timaru match. Won 5—3.
- August 18-24.—Choir goes to Christchurch on its second "grand tour."
- October 14.—Visit of Air Force Band to School. They give us a splendid entertainment both in Hall and on the ground.
- October 21.—An innovation. The Girls' High School hold its Annual Sports on our grounds. Ideal weather.
- October 22.—Our Sports Day. Weather as usual. References elsewhere.
- November 6-8.—Athletic teams in Dunedin. Our Seniors very weak. Our Junior team is the best for many years and wins its Shield.
- November 8-13.—V. and VI. Form examinations. "Just take it in your stride!"
- November 15.—Public Speaking Competition. This is notable for the pertinent comments by the Judge (Mr M. H. Holcroft), and the high standard reached by the two winning seniors—Walker and McCurdy.
- November 16.—Singing Competition.
- November 17: Gymnastic Championships. This is a very fine competition and produces one of the highest standards in the School's history.
- November 18.—Round the Park Races. There are the usual excellent fields.
- November 19.—Concert in Theatre. Over £90 are raised for patriotic funds.
- November 25.—The visit of His Excellency The Governor-General.
- December 1-10.—University examinations.
- December 11.—A much deleted breaking-up ceremony, held in strictly masculine atmosphere at School.

The Governor-General's Visit

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1942

When word was received in Invercargill through the Town Clerk of the City, that His Excellency Sir Cyril Newall intended visiting the south towards the end of November, it was generally supposed that the occasion would be a Civic function and would primarily concern the City as a whole. We learned a little later however, that his visit to School would be the Governor's only public ceremony in Invercargill and that we must make such arrangements as would be in keeping with the importance of the occasion. (It is probably only right to confess, as an aside, that a certain consternation prevailed in some quarters when the extent of the desirable spring-cleaning was realized). The Board of Governors decided that the girls of the Girls' High School must also take their part in the arrangements and that our Hall should be used. It was also decided that, since Sir Cyril Newall had made it clear that his visit was a School one, no public invitations would be extended. This greatly simplified both seating and procedure. The Governor, accompanied by his Aide-de-Camp was met at the east gate by The Rector, by Miss May, Principal of the Girls' High School, Mr William Bell, Chairman of the Board of Governors, and the Mayor of Invercargill. The Guard of Honour under the command of Major Slater and Captain Page was then inspected on the front lawn, where the Band, under Lieutenant J. L. Napier, played the Royal Salute. After greeting the officers of the Guard and Band, His Excellency entered the Hall at the head of the official party which consisted of The Rector and Mrs Uttley, Miss May, Mr and Mrs William Bell, Mr and Mrs W. F. Sturman (Town Clerk of Invercargill), Mr W. M. C. Denham, M.P., and Mrs Denham, Miss May Manson (President of the Old Girls' Association), Mr R. W. Murray (President of the Old Boys' Association), Lieutenant-Colonel H. C. Mackenzie (Officer Commanding Area No. 12), and Mrs Mackenzie; Mrs J. N. Armour, Mr E. H. Smith and Mr W. H. Gregory (Members of the Board of Governors).

In his address of welcome Mr Bell made reference to the records and histories of the Schools, after which he asked the Governor-General to speak. Sir Cyril Newall referred to the Nazi and Fascist regimes as organizations with abominable and inhuman ideals—ideals which for some years had been instilled into millions of the youth of Europe. Consequently our victory would introduce, if it were to be complete and real, a very difficult period during which those "infected" groups would have to be both watched and re-educated. He felt that to be one of the greatest of the post-war problems. He asked for real service based upon the finest principles of altruistic citizenship. He wished to lay emphasis on the nobility, the dignity, and the usefulness of the simple tasks which fall to the lot of all and which have lost the high regard due to them. Concluding, he wished to draw the Chairman's attention to one of Mr Bell's own remarks—that as Governor-General he carried the authority of the people with him and consequently he felt able to "instruct" the Board in the matter of a suitable whole holiday to mark his visit. This authority seemed to be appreciated by the audience, which was apparently quite willing to act upon the instructions. The singing of "God Defend New Zealand" brought the formal proceedings to a close, the Masters of the Boys' School and the Mistresses of the Girls' School then being presented together with J. L. Thompson, Head Prefect, and the Head Prefect from the ranks of the girls.

His Excellency made a tour of inspection of the buildings which were looking unbelievably spick and span, and on his return to his car found the boys lying in wait to send him on his way with the haka ringing in his ears.

We wish to express our thanks to the Girls' School for undertaking the floral decoration of the Hall for the ceremony. It certainly looked splendidly bright, fresh and welcoming.

Distinction in Science

H. J. ELDER'S SUCCESS.

The School and its Old Boys were delighted to read, in January last of H. J. Elder's appointment to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Science, of Zurich University, Switzerland. Few people knew that he was doing original chemical research, so that the element of surprise added a sauce to the appreciation with which this success was greeted.

Elder first began his research work in 1938 while still in the fifth form at School. In this year he set up a laboratory in his own home while the necessary books were comparatively easy to obtain, the difficulties of getting materials and apparatus were considerable, but these were overcome and Elder's first work was brought to a successful conclusion. This was on the "Organo Metallic Compounds" and was concerned with the improvement of the previously accepted technique for "boosting" the energy capacity of petrol and other petroleum products.

Elder now sought to make contact with Continental authorities in the field of biochemical research, and, learning of the Schutzenburg Scholarship which had been established in Zurich in 1939 for purposes of promoting research, he asked permission of the University to take it up. Because Elder did not at this moment produce evidence of his capacity in chemical research, permission was refused. In the meantime, however, Professor Paul Karrer, head of the department of Chemistry at Zurich, and a scientist who is internationally known in the field of biochemistry, had had brought to his notice Elder's initial work on the organo metallic compounds. This had been sent by Elder to friends in America. Professor Karrer then advised his own institution to grant the Schutzenburg Scholarship and this was done, the tenure being arranged for the years 1940 to 1945. The research was to be completed in the five-year period, and was to be done under supervision; this was achieved by Zurich University demanding regular and frequent reports on Elder's progress. At the end of eighteen months of concentrated and exhausting work (added to his ordinary employment) his task was accomplished and the thesis "The Macrocyclic and Related Pigments" was a reality.

It is impossible to convey to the layman the exact significance of this work. It relates to the colouring matter of vegetable life with special regard to the synthesis of the simpler substances making up that colouring matter. Complete synthesis will ultimately give control over the colouring matter of plants and could, also, lead to the use, within the human environment, of a range of colours over which at present, we have little control. Elder's methods are described as being simpler than those already used and different in their approach to the problem.

The text of the letter from Professor L. Kohler, Rector of Zurich University is: "This is to inform you that this University awards you the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Science, with distinction in Thesis, mainly for what Professor Paul Karrer has described as 'brilliant and original research' resulting in a complete synthesis among the Macrocyclic and Related Pigments.

"As Rector of this University may I have the honour of congratulating so distinguished a graduate. You are the first student to attain this high academic honour for the last fifteen years. In the history of this institution you are the first person to have been permitted to graduate externally to a degree in Science, and as first holder of the Schutzenburg Scholarship you have upheld the trust placed in you and proved yourself worthy of this great honour."

While he was working under the direction of Zurich, Elder was asked by the Institute for Hygiene and Bacteriology at Berne to examine and report on the biochemical nature of certain samples sent to him. Here, too, he was successful and the Director of the Institute, G. Sobernheim, M.D., Ph.D. (Vienna), says: "We, of the Institute, are very much in your debt and hope that we may have the privilege of engaging your brilliant scientific abilities on some future occasions. As a token of esteem we are pleased to present to you a watch, from us all."

To these two can be added Professor ^{Karl Falks}~~Paul Koenig~~'s most recent letter:—

University Zurich,

3rd January, 1943.

Dr H. J. Elder Ph.D. (Zurich) D.Sc. (Harvard) A.A.I.C., F.A.S.A.

Dear Mr Elder,

Now that you have graduated I feel a need of writing some congratulatory note to you. When I first read your thesis on the "Organo-Metallic Compounds" some few years ago I sensed in it the spirit of a true scientific genius, although I consider your present work as a crowning glory to the previous—which impelled in me the desire of seeking the acquiescence of the council to your being granted an external scholarship under my direction. In your present work I see that inculcated habit of precise experimental work which breeds such a subtle insight into theoretical meanings, and develops that instinct which led such masters as Emil Fischer and W. H. Perkin to their experimental triumphs.

In conclusion, let me ask you, as the most distinguished honours student of my class to become my collaborator as "Ausserordentliche Professoren de Organischen Chemie," with the knowledge that, together with my other co-workers, we shall delve into that vast realm of the chemistry of natural products."

Elder hopes to be able to take a degree in Science before he leaves New Zealand. For the duration of the war, however, he can make no definite plans.

It is obvious that no effort should be spared to ensure that his research abilities are used to the full wherever he may choose to work. The terms of Professor Kohler's letter makes it perfectly clear that Elder's work is regarded as something in which New Zealand should take pride, and this is emphasised by John H. Howell, of Wellington, who, in writing to Elder, says among other things: "I have just learned of the rare distinction you have gained by your researches—and have indeed yourself conferred on New Zealand—and desire to offer you my congratulations . . . May you render great service to your day and generation."

The School shares this wish and adds its own congratulations and those of all old boys wherever they may be.

Obituary

THOMAS BAIRD.

The death of Thomas Baird occurred suddenly at Invercargill on July 7, 1942. He was at School from 1906 to 1910 being in both the cricket eleven and the first fifteen. In athletics he distinguished himself by setting records for the 220 yards, 440 yards, 880 yards and one mile events, and of these, the first and last are still unbeaten. He was both junior and senior athletic champion of the School. At Rugby football he represented Southland in 1912 and 1913 and later occupied a seat on the Southland Rugby Union. He had wide business and racing interests. He had been first assistant master of the Invercargill Middle School since 1926, and here his work was rewarded with the universal respect and co-operation of all those among whom he worked. School welcomed to its ranks many boys who had passed through his hands and few men prepared his pupils better. He believed in hard work, no short cuts, and thoroughness, and created a healthy respect for high standards. In spite of his multitudinous general interests his determination to pass on well-taught, well-developed boys and girls only grew the greater and he will be remembered with respect and affection both by those whom he taught and by those who were in a position to estimate the quality of his professional career.

1942 Rugby Season

The 1st XV was a good team which at times, played some brilliant football, the forwards and backs working together well to score many good combined tries. The pack was heavy and dashing with R. J. Bloomfield always tirelessly to the fore, while J. L. Thompson used his height to advantage in the line-out play. M. R. Murray, who had been an outstandingly good forward during the 1941 season did not play as well as he should have done with the 1942 fifteen, but when he was in the mood he gave occasional glimpses of the form which he ought to have been capable of maintaining. The hooking in the set scrums was crisp and fast with the result that Bennett at half-back had a season full of opportunities to feed the ball to the very competent set of backs outside him. For this service he had to thank Ross, Redpath and Fallow, who played as well in the open as they did in the tight. A good deal of the success of the team was contributed by S. C. Smart and Edwards, who always got quickly away from the set scrums and were therefore always ready for any move that might develop. Against Otago Blomfield played his best game, and his spoiling tactics were persistent and vigorous.

From Bennett at half-back, through E. G. Walker and Tennet to the three-quarters, the team was well served on nearly all occasions, and often brilliant and spectacular play was the result of their efforts. R. L. Walker, at centre, began his season's play shakily, but by the time the School games were due he was proving himself capable of some vigorous work. His try against King's was one likely to be remembered at Rugby Park whenever School football is discussed. Both the wings, L. A. Fraser and R. J. Hishon, had speed, deceptive runs and determination. Consequently they were able to score many bright tries—all indicative of the keenness and vigour with which they infused all their games. Hishon showed a natural swerve, and Fraser a tricky change of pace which gave them both many an advantage. D. B. Doake, the full-back, kicked during the season with tremendous length and power and at the same time he showed, in the game against Otago, that his sense of position was sound. He was none too successful with his goal-kicking. In this particular sphere Ross did well as the season progressed, although he seemed at times, to be nervous of his probable results.

Victories were won against Otago, Timaru and King's; the game against Waitaki was lost by 6 points to nil. In this game the School fifteen played spiritlessly on a good firm ground and the Waitaki team was definitely superior on the day.

The Waitaki and Otago games were played away from Invercargill and we owe our thanks to the hosts of those two schools who entertained the School visitors so hospitably during their visits to Oamaru and Dunedin.

The two games in Invercargill were well supported by the public, so that the football travelling account is well assured for the near future. In addition, under war conditions, it may be claimed that the fifteen contributed a standard of play which did much to fill the gaps caused by the abandonment of so much big football.

SCHOOL v. OTAGO.

The teams in this match spent 90 minutes slithering around on a water-logged ground. School owed its win primarily to the fact that it was able to adapt its play to the conditions better than Otago. School forwards unleashed their ability to hunt as a pack, and in the long run this had its reward. E. G. Walker scored the only try of the match when he cut off a pass to make a strong run. The ball was kicked on and Walker was on it in time to score. Bloomfield, Millard and Kirkland were prominent in this game among the forwards, while E. G. Walker played steadily in the bad conditions. Doake fielded competently and kicked for the line accurately.

School 3, Otago 0.

SCHOOL v. WAITAKI

This game was fast and hard between two teams which, on the day, were evenly matched. However, it lacked bright incidents, possibly because of the very solid tackling on both sides. School backs played more vigorously than Waitaki, but the chances did not come their way at the right moment. Doake saved his side well on many occasions and again kicked well. Of the three-quarters Hishon saw but little of the play, Fraser and R. L. Walker seeing much more of the ball, but were unable to get through. Bloomfield played another good game, with the rest of the forwards well up to him. The score at half-time was 3 to nil against School, and there was no further score until near the end of the game when both sides were showing obvious signs of the effects of sun and ground.

School 0, Waitaki 6.

SCHOOL v KING'S.

Making a good recovery from a shaky start, School went on to win this game played on Rugby Park in fine weather with the ground in soft, but good order. The first try came to School when Hishon caught up a dropped pass and raced over at the corner. King's held the advantage at half-time, when the score was 5-3 against School. Shortly after the start of the second half Hishon scored another good try after the ball had been handled by both backs and forwards. The next try was made by R. L. Walker, who was playing a good game at this stage. He ran strongly and burst through his tacklers to bring the score up to 9 points to 5, which was soon altered by King's to 9-8. The last points came to School when E. G. Walker scored after a good handling movement.

School 12, King's 8.

SCHOOL v. TIMARU.

To quote the "Southland Times":—"The clever handling of the Timaru backs, the solid scrummaging of the Southland forwards, and the deadly tackling of Southland were the features of an interesting game. In the first half Timaru had much the better of the exchanges, but the work of the backs was nullified by the good defence of the Southland backs, particularly that of Fraser, left-wing, who was called on to stop many back movements. Southland took the honours of the second half and would have been unlucky to lose." Timaru scored first with an excellent try, and then R. L. Walker made a good opening for Hishon, who scored wide out, for Ross to convert with a particularly good kick from the touchline. This made the score 5-3 in School's favour, and all through the fast and interesting second spell it remained unaltered. In the last quarter the game became hard and exciting and there were stoppages for injuries one of which was most unfortunately of a rather serious nature.

SECOND FIFTEEN.

The Seconds were not a strong side, the backs particularly having marked weaknesses which did not look like being overcome at any time during the season. Too many of the team were obliged to play in positions for which they were unsuited and which they did not like, but the shortage of suitable players allowed no other course. Losses to the first fifteen because of injury were fewer than usual. I. E. Wilson, C. Gray, O. C. Lawrence and H. D. Ryan (Captain), played consistently in a very fair pack of forwards. Of the backs, M. A. McDougall used his speed to score some good tries, and T. B. Richardson was a promising full-back. He tackled with determination, while his line-kicking was both long and accurate.

Two School matches were played, against Waitaki seconds and Gore High School first fifteen. In the former game School played very badly indeed and were more than lucky to complete the first spell with only 11 points scored against them. The half-time "pep talk" however, must have been more than usually effective, for an immediate improvement followed and School was described by some spectators as "unlucky not to win." Tries were scored by Gray and McDougall, the former converting one and kicking a penalty goal.

School 11, Waitaki 14.

SCHOOL v. GORE HIGH SCHOOL.

This game was played under very good conditions as a curtain-raiser to the King's game at Rugby Park. The scores were equal (6-6), until a minute from the final whistle, when Gore scored a good converted try.

School 6, Gore 11.

THIRD FIFTEEN

Although the Thirds did not do as well as could have been wished in their Grade games, their play improved markedly towards the end of the season and they then had a very good team capable of well-made tries. Against this lack of Grade football success can be placed something more important—an enthusiastic enjoyment of all their games and the possession of quite a number of backs and forwards who will ensure the stability of both Firsts and Seconds during the next two seasons. In fact, it is probably not too much to say that it is some years since the recruits from the "lower orders" seemed so promising. K. J. McLeod was a competent Captain and keen leader. Other backs who should do well at their football were McDermott (whose speed is a valuable asset), and Lindsay, who gave signs of having an eye for an opening and whose positional play was naturally sound. Gill, Forbes and Watson were never afraid to let themselves go. If these boys are prepared to learn and to practise they will soon find even greater fun in their football than they have had already.

FOURTH AND FIFTH FIFTEENS.

Once again this group was very big, and once again it was lacking in competition. Arrangements were made for a series of games between School and Technical and some homeric battles were waged into the gathering dusk. School's first team showed itself the superior combination. Once again, too, there could be little doubt but that the group loved its football with a vociferousness for which it is hard to find words.

THE GROUPS.

Under Mr Deaker's control, four teams of boys who did not play in Grade football regularly, competed against each other on Thursday afternoons, thus getting some exercise which many of the players badly needed. True, it must be owned that some of that exercise was not of the heart-straining type, but it was undoubtedly good for certain members of the groups that on one afternoon a week, for a whole term, there was no escape from having to run. Apart from this the groups served two valuable purposes—they brought into notice boys whose football ability might have been overlooked, and secondly, they gave opportunity to senior boys to control and referee the games, and this in turn gave some relief to hard-pressed masters while it gave still another chance for the display of leadership and disciplinary powers. Quite a number carried out their task excellently.

GENERAL.

The grounds stood up well to the season's play. There are, however, signs that the drainage of the north-western corner of the number one ground will need attention if the coming winter is wet. This was not the case during last winter and the danger was averted. The bareness of the cricket pitch on the same ground also gave some trouble, but the problem here is the simple one of returfing and can be easily overcome. It is a great pity, too, that the full facilities of the pavilion continue to be unavailable. It does not appear to be a task of much magnitude to put everything in full working order and the benefits would once again be considerable and the general environment improved out of all comparison.

We wish to express our thanks to the Headmaster of the Waihopai School for the use of his grounds at times when we were short of room ourselves.

Athletic Notes for 1942

Although the weather as a topic is the usual trivial opening gambit of the Englishman's conversational games, it has to be admitted that the stage has been reached when no attempt to chronicle the School Sports Day can be considered a proper attempt unless the weather has first been discussed. So persistent has our bad luck been over rather many years that times and distances, if they are to be analysed comparatively, must be assessed in relation to the condition of the track and the strength of the wind in the runner's face over the last few years, and 1942 was no exception. Some very good runners and jumpers have certainly not been able to do themselves justice because of a heavy or greasy track, or because of a high wind. These factors, too, fast becoming something of a tradition are scarcely encouraging either to masters or boys and the attendance of interested people can hardly be expected to increase. The galling part of the whole matter is that sister schools persistently enjoy an elemental clemency that leaves little to be desired. This long preamble, then, is another way of saying that Sports Day, 1942, was a wretched day. Once again the ground—ideal for athletic sports—was well prepared, while afternoon tea was available for visitors in Room 4. The boys who attended to this, are to be congratulated on their arrangements, which, under the circumstances, were a credit to them.

The Senior runners were not a strong team. The times and distances recorded elsewhere make that plain and it has to be confessed in the interests of history and truth, that the senior team competing in the Inter-School Sports in Dunedin did not score a point. Obviously, then, this was for them, a lean year, for School's past record in the tournament is a proud one. However, those boys coming on in the Junior and Intermediate Grades have considerable ability among them and the future seems assured. I. C. Bates performed well at School, and in Dunedin scored points together with Gray and Doake, in both the high and broad jumps. The Intermediate Team scored $7\frac{1}{2}$ points. At School M. Potter ran well to win the Intermediate 220 in 26 seconds, the same time as was taken by R. L. Walker to win the same event in the Senior Championship.

Both these runners, however, were eclipsed by R. E. McDermott, who ran the Junior Championship 220 in $25\frac{1}{2}$ seconds at School, where he also won the 100 yards and was second to T. B. Richardson in the 440 yards. In the Junior Section of the tournament at Dunedin both these runners did very well, McDermott making a record of 11 seconds for the 100 yards, winning the 220 yards in 26 1-5 seconds and the 440 yards in 59 seconds. At School Richardson had won the 440 yards junior in 65 seconds, so that McDermott's improvement was considerable. Richardson was second in the broad jump in Dunedin, third in the 220 yards and second to McDermott in the 440 yards event. The two of them scored 22 points and thus enabled the School team to return with the Arthur Barnett Shield.

The usual march past after the Olympic manner was held in Dunedin and was, from the spectators' point of view, one of the most attractive features of the day.

It is now proposed to consider seriously holding the School Sports Day for 1943 in March, in an effort to seize a good day. Let it be hoped that "The Southlandian" of 1944 will be able to pour blessings upon this change and not have to confess that "the more things change, the more they remain the same."

Singing Notes

"The Southlandian" recorded last year two interesting items concerning the Choir, and they were, of course, the visits of a choral group of about 60 boys to Christchurch to perform under the auspices of the Christchurch Harmonic Society, and to Dunedin to sing in the Town Hall at the invitation of the Dunedin Choral Society. Both visits did something to assist those in both cities who would like to see school singing taken up in a wider way. It was, therefore, satisfactory to the School to know that the Choir was worthy of a second invitation to Christchurch—an invitation which came during the year, and which, after mature consideration, was accepted. Once again financial arrangements were made with quite astonishing ease, while Mr Deaker and Mr Geddes again willingly undertook the by no means light task of organizing and controlling the "tour." Mr Black had at his disposal a very good range of voices which made up a choir that seemed generally more competent and effective than that of 1941. Yet, whatever the reasons, when the Choirs are recalled and considered critically in perspective, the honours must go to the 1941 group. Possibly they were singing a better programme or had the greater freshness and vitality. The 1942 Choir in Christchurch included in its performance pianoforte solos by Victor Jones, which were beautifully played and enthusiastically received. Three concerts were given, two at night and one in the afternoon at a special schools' matinee, all being in the Civic Theatre. Very big audiences attended all three performances. The full programme was as follows:—

1. Piano Solos—Solfegietto (Bach); Tarantelle (Mendelssohn) V. C. Jones.
2. Choir—New Zealand; Sanctus; Benedictus. - - - (Kennedy Black)
3. Choral Waltz—Invitation - - - - - (Kerker)
4. Sextet—Creation Hymn; La Donna E Mobile - - - - - (Hayden)
5. Choir—Drinking Song and Waltz - - - - - (Faust)
6. Choir—Anvil Chorus - - - - - (Verdi)
- Angelus - - - - - (Wallace)
7. Trio and Choir—When a Merry Maiden Marries. (Gilbert and Sullivan.)
(A. C. Lange, I. E. Wilson, A. Aitken.)
8. Choir—Phil the Fluter. - - - - - (French.)
9. Sextet—Minuet from Don Giovanni - - - - - (Mozart.)
Shortnin' Bread - - - - - (Wolfe.)
10. Choir—Opening Chorus, Faust - - - - - (Gounod.)
Prologue, Romeo and Juliet - - - - - (Verdi)
Waltz, Romeo and Juliet - - - - - (Verdi.)

The sextet (J. L. Thompson, M. A. McDougall, S. C. Smart, W. M. Dawson, A. R. Turner, H. D. Ryan) sang from 3 YA and 3ZB. From the former station, too, about an hour of the programme was broadcast, this being of particular interest to listeners in the south. Opportunity was taken to make records of piano solos by V. C. Jones, two songs by the Sextet, two by J. L. Thompson, and four by the full choir. These were brought to School and will be kept as an interesting recorded memory of the Choir's "great occasions" during 1942.

The Head Prefect, J. L. Thompson, was the principal soloist during the year, and he gave the greatest pleasure to his listeners whenever he sang. It would be churlish, indeed, for the School not to record that fact in this year's Magazine. Possessed of an outstandingly attractive voice, Thompson twice won the senior singing competition and quietly effaced himself from the 1942 competition. Music at School will be indeed poorer for his departure.

A concert was given in the Civic Theatre at the beginning of the third term for Patriotic funds. Mr Page and Mr Black prepared a good and popular programme which allowed us to make a contribution of over £90 to the Southland Prisoners of War funds.

The annual singing competitions again drew large entries in both broken and unbroken voice sections. The judge was Mr J. J. McCrostie, who gave first place to W. D. Sim ("Boots") in the senior group. Sim's interpretation was particularly good and this gave him the necessary advantage over other competitors whose voices may have been more naturally attractive than his.

Among the Juniors, A. C. Lange ("How Lovely Are Thy Dwelling Places") sang with fine range, quality and sincerity. He won with a clear-cut lead over the rest of the section.

A.T.C.—Major A. J. Deaker; Sergeant J. Morison.

During the year the company was arranged on the most convenient establishment for our purposes. There were five infantry platoons, a bearer section, the first unit of the A.T.C., and the band. The A.T.C. worked separately from the company and a review of their year follows. The four days of barracks were held as usual at the beginning of the year in broken weather conditions. A full parade of the company was held on the occasion of the visit of the Air Force Band when a march through the city was part of the proceedings. A Guard of Honour was provided for the Governor's visit in December and it was, of course, incomplete as it had no rifles available. During the third term platoon officers each made up a syllabus which suited them best, and this provided some interesting work. Once again the lack of rifles was a most serious handicap.

We record too, the departure of Lieutenant J. C. Braithwaite from the company. He left on overseas service in various parts of the world. We are glad to be able to congratulate him on his rapid promotion to the rank of major in his battalion.

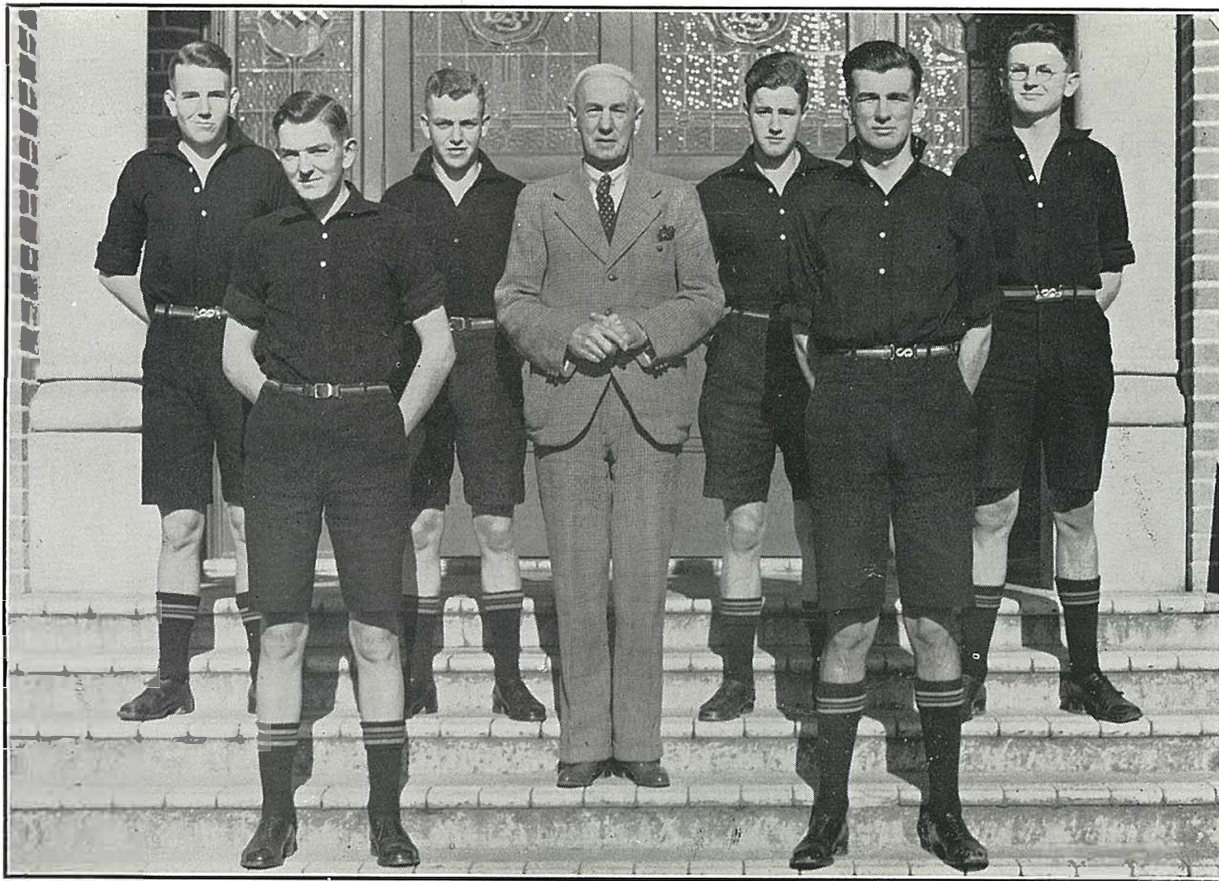

Lieutenant J. L. Napier kept the band up to its usual high standard and achieved this in spite of his own military duties. He had to face the loss of many of his players to the forces, but in spite of all these difficulties the band was able to make many public appearances for patriotic purposes. As Lieutenant Napier has been transferred for duty out of Invercargill it is unfortunately necessary to record this very great loss to the School. We hope this will be quite temporary. Mr A. R. Wills has generously consented to take over during Lieutenant Napier's absence. We offer him our thanks and can promise him all the necessary co-operation.

In February, 1942, a unit of the Air Training Corps was formed in this school. Beginning with 29 cadets, a maximum roll of 47 was reached during the year. Two visits were paid to the Taieri Station and during the choir's visit to Christchurch the A.T.C. members spent a morning at Wigram Station. Fourteen cadets sat the entrance examination of the R.N.Z.A.F. and of these 13 passed, four receiving a credit pass of over 80 per cent. In January Cadets White, Balch, Anderson and Roxburgh attended a course at Taieri and this unit is indebted to Squadron-Leader S. Gilkison of that station for his enthusiastic assistance to the A.T.C.

Cricket Notes

J. L. Thompson.

With only four of the last year's XI back, it was decided to give some of the younger players an opportunity to gain some invaluable experience. This decision was justified, as towards the end of the year they were making some quite respectable scores by means of correct cricket. There is one fault which must be remedied, however, and that is the lack of foot-work. To Mr Inder go our thanks for some timely advice imparted at the nets, and more particularly for the forceful innings he played during our Saturday matches. Competition in these games was very strong as the First XI. was promoted to play Senior, leaving the 2nd XI. to carry on in the Junior Competition, and the 3rd XI. blithely unaware of the sterner issues of the game to carry on with the customary gay abandon in the 3rd Grade Competition.

Although more or less overwhelmed by the leaders of the Senior Grade, the 1st XI. managed to account for two of its rivals in Army and Bluff, and so justified its inclusion in Senior Cricket. Lilley controlled the 2nd XI. well, the chief strength of his side lying in the bowling attack, which when varied yielded good results.

Although the present day conditions have had their effect on the playing areas, we all enjoyed our games, and thank Mr Day for the work he put in on the various wickets.

First XI: J. L. Thompson (Captain), E. G. Walker, D. B. Doake, T. B. Richardson, J. Gill, A. Gilbertson, H. J. Carey, M. R. Murray, K. J. McLeod, A. A. Redpath, S. C. Smart.

Swimming and Life Saving Notes

D. B. Doake.

Swimming activities were supported by the usual large number of boys during 1942. The sports, held in March, were quite successful; indeed, in two events there were record entries, while the general standard of swimming revealed by the times taken, was even better than in previous years. D. B. Doake and D. J. Kirkland had a stern tussle for the Senior Championship, the latter being the winner. The Junior Championship was not so good a competition, for here some boys who should have done well did not realize fully their capacity, and so failed to swim in events in which they would probably have done well. Unlike the Senior Championship, the times recorded for the Junior were not wholly satisfactory.

The standard of diving in the School was again high and there were a surprisingly large number who were capable of very good work from both boards and in the field of the harder dives. D. B. Doake and D. A. Wilson in the Senior Championship gave an exhibition which ought to be remembered by those who would go and do likewise.

Life-saving had a lean year for which the upsetting circumstances of the war are entirely to blame. School did not, owing to a misunderstanding, compete in the life-saving tournament held in Dunedin, while the Oreti Surf Club, usually such an active body in gathering in recruits from School, was hard hit to the point of extinction by the war. Thus, it had no programme to offer.

Kirkland, Doake and W. G. Chalmers represented Southland at New Plymouth in the Intermediate and Junior Grades. Kirkland won the 100 yards Intermediate boys' backstroke, and Doake the 75 yards junior boys' backstroke, the junior dive and was second in both the 100 yards and 220 yards junior freestyle championships.

In the Southland Provincial Championships Kirkland and Doake won between them, every event with the exception of the 100 yards breaststroke and in this Kirkland was second. This indicated not a little competency on the part of these two boys and it will probably be a very long time before such a state of affairs is again recorded.

Although it does not strictly belong to these pages, it was interesting to note, that in the Canterbury Surf Championships recently held, a team from the Southland Regiment was the winner, consisting entirely of old boys of fairly recent vintage; this team was T. M. Cushen, J. R. Cameron, W. M. Clouston and W. A. Springford. This is, perhaps, as good a commentary as any, on the way in which School is playing its part in the particular spheres of swimming and life--saving as active sports and pastimes.

From time to time it is suggested in some quarters that we do not do our part as fully as we should, in maintaining a lively interest in the aquatic sports. Considering the necessity for a balanced programme of activities in any school, there does not seem to be much room for complaint as far as we are concerned.

Old Boys in the Forces

The following list has been compiled from the available information. In no respect does it claim to be correct, and since it is highly desirable that it should be correct, the School would be glad of any information whatever concerning old boys who are serving in any unit of any one of the fighting services. This request also applies to those lists which are devoted to casualties and honours. Any information will be gladly received by Mr A. R. Dunlop of the School Staff.
